Products to Increase User Efficiencies

With healthcare needs evolving at an unprecedented pace, your practice needs to discover more efficient and productive ways to perform business and clinical functions. When you have Summit Software Technologies on your team, you can improve the productivity of your GE Centricity practice to even higher levels.

Recognized by GE for our vital role in the utilization of Centricity products, Summit Software Technologies provides add-on solutions with a focus on pricing which results in a quick return on investment. From standard products to custom solutions to client-driven interfaces, Summit's software solutions typically pay for themselves within twelve to eighteen months.

Your Advantage is Our Experience.

With more than four decades of collective experience working with Centricity products and medical practices, Summit not only knows how to engineer software—we also know the business. More than 350 GE groups ranging from small, independent practices to large university and hospital-based groups now use Summit products to enhance their business processes and improve productivity.

"Summit Software products truly enhance functionality and workflow, saving our practice time and money."
Heath Weimer, Adeptus Health Inc. / Firtst Choice Emergency Room

"My doctors are much more productive."
Mike Zavolas, Tallahassee Neurological Clinic

"We saw ROI in 3-4 months. It now costs us less to call and email a patient than one traditional collection letter, which many times went unanswered."
Debra Mitchell, RN, BSN, MBA, Children's Orthopaedic and Scoliosis Surgery Associates

Customized Solutions:

When specific practice needs call for a solution outside the function of our standard products, Summit Software Technologies creates custom software applications for our clients. Part of our process includes operational analysis and revenue cycle management services to enhance overall performance and reduce costs.

Interface Development:

Practices frequently need to exchange data with hospitals, labs, billing systems, and more. Summit Software can design bi-directional interfacing to connect your GE Centricity system with an electronic counterpart.

About Summit

Founded in 2002, our team has extensive first-hand experience in medical practice operation as well as software development. The result is a powerful combination of expertise that allows us to address real-life needs through software enhancements designed specifically for GE Centricity products. Not only does GE recognize our vital role in the utilization of its products, but so do the more than 350 clients who use Summit Software Technologies.

Centricity® is a registered trademark of General Electric Company.
